

MR. C.J. VANDERBILT'S TRIP.

New York Times (1857-1922); Sep 5, 1880; ProQuest Historical Newspapers: The New York Times
pg. 12

MR. C. J. VANDERBILT'S TRIP.

Mr. Cornelius J. Vanderbilt, accompanied by Mr. George N. Terry, sailed yesterday in the City of Richmond for an extended European trip and possibly a visit to Siberia and China. From Liverpool Mr. Vanderbilt will proceed to Cairo, Egypt, where the party will be joined by Judge Batchellor, the American representative in the International Court of Egypt. From thence the three Americans will set out on an exploring expedition up the Nile and over the adjacent country. They will visit the Holy Land, the southern countries of Europe, and St. Petersburg, after which, if the weather permits, they will cross the Ural Mountains, penetrate into Siberia, and from thence to China, returning by the Pacific Mail steam-ship route to New-York.